‘Slow travel’ is an increasingly popular way to travel today. As the slow food movement is a reaction to junk and convenience food, so ‘slow travel’ emphasises time to enjoy your surroundings rather than racing from one tourist attraction to another. If you are interested in a more leisurely way of experiencing a destination, we recommend these 2019 tours.

JUST A REMINDER...

The NZ dollar has dropped but we have guaranteed to hold our tour prices for those registered by 15 November 2018. Many of our tours are close to confirmed departures and once they are, we can lock in currency and avoid the need to add a foreign exchange surcharge. Your deposit is refundable until a tour is confirmed.
