Thursday 17 November

Queenstown - Milford Sound

Meals: B/L/D

Walks: Shorts walks Milford Road

Drive: 4 hours

Overnight: Milford Sound Chalets

Almost every New Zealander will have heard of Milford Sound - often called the 'Eighth wonder of the world', and today will not disappoint as you head out early from Queenstown along the Eglington valley straight towards Milford Sound. On the way you will stop off for some short walks to see the beauty of Fiordland at the Mirror Lakes, The Chasm and Marian Gantry. If you are lucky you could spot our cheeky and intelligent native alpine parrot, the Kea, as you go through the Homer Tunnel.

As you emerge from this amazing tunnel and descend into the Cleddau valley, you'll be in awe of the stunning sight of Milford Sound, the steep valley walls and thousands of waterfalls all around. Once in the fiord itself, hop onto a boat to cruise the Sound and experience the full length of this majestic place. The steep walls of the iconic Mitre Peak plunge deep into the inky dark water, as seals frolic on nearby rocks and Fiordland crested penguins dive down for their dinner. You'll get up close and personal with thundering waterfalls, and hopefully spot a pod of dolphins.

Tonight the group will stay in the heart of Milford Sound when all other tourists have left, relishing the silence of the fiord to ourselves.

Friday 18 November

Milford Sound - Te Anau

Meals: B/L/D

Walk: 10km - 3 hours

Elevation: +/- 200m

After waking up in the peaceful serenity of Milford Sound, take a boat this morning to Sandfly Point on the Milford Track to hike a wee way up the trail to Giants Gate Waterfall. Wandering along in the lush green forest you'll think you've stumbled right into Narnia! After lunch retrace your steps along the stunning Milford Road to Te Anau.

In the afternoon, take a lakeside walk to visit the Te Anau Bird Sanctuary operated by the Department of Conservation, where we can see endangered Takahe and listen to the DoC experts talk about how they're bringing this species back from the brink of extinction. These charismatic large blue birds were once thought extinct until Dr. Geoffrey Orbell rediscovered them in the nearby Murchison Mountains in 1948. Since then many conservation efforts have increased the population, which as of 2020 stands at 418 individual birds.
